SECTION D: COMPREHENSION

Read the following passage and then answer the questions which follows after it.

Bees are very interesting creatures which can both hurt and help us. They often travel together in big swarms or groups of bees. If you disturb a swarm or if you attack their nest they will sting you. bee stings are very painful and dangerous. If you receive more than about one hundred stings you might die.

But bees are also very useful insects. They produce honey which is delicious and healthy food. Bees like to build their nests in dark places such as holes in tree trunks or in dark corners. They lay their eggs in honeycomb in their nests. Their honey is taken from the honey comb.

Some people are bee “farmers”. They put beehives in trees or in gardens where the bees produce their honey. The farmers visit the beehives from time to time and take out the honey. It is very dangerous work. The farmers use smoke to confuse the bees. They also wear a helmet and gloves to protect them against bee stings.
